Dear Parents and Carers,

There may be some tired faces today after our first week of full days at Hailsham Primary Academy. However, they are mostly staff faces, the children have had a great time and have been fantastic all week!

Expert Learner and Worker of the Week

Every Friday the children will be having celebration assembly, where two awards for each class will be given out. The first award is Worker of the Week. This is given to a child who has completed an amazing piece of learning. Their work will be displayed in the hall.

The second award is our expert learner. Each week we will focus on one area from the list below, which all add up to making an Expert Learner:

Attendance and Punctuality

Effort

Behaviour

Progress

Commitment to Learning

Enrichment and Additional Learning

The children who get either award each week will come home with a certificate and an expert learner badge (when they arrive)!

Learning through Play

This week the children have been focusing on reading with phonics lessons in school and books going home at the end of each day.

There has also been a lot of water action. The children have been investigating how water travels, using our guttering.

Donations

At HCCPA we are very lucky to have all new equipment and resources. However, if your children have any old toys or books which they don't use anymore, we would welcome donations. We don't like waste and are encouraging children to share. If your child has loved a book or a toy it would be so kind to let another child experience that too. Thank you for any donations!

Have a great weekend! Mr Redman
